FOOD & GASTRONOMY

A STRONG ASSET FOR INTERNATIONAL COOPERATIONS

A CENTER FOR COLLECTIVE INTELLIGENCE

Food & Gastronomy, a boost for city development

Today more than ever, food & gastronomy is considered a very important asset for cities around the world, creating impact on economic development, tourism, attractiveness and reputation.

City leaders from around the world are looking to develop policies, projects and initiatives to enhance their assets and compete on the international scene.

The trends in consumer behavior are moving fast, especially in urban environments.

Délice Network is a tool for the cities who want to keep up with this evolution and propose to their citizens and visitors a holistic and sustainable approach on food & gastronomy.

With Délice, members engage with like-minded cities and together, they LEARN, SHARE and CONNECT.

A network to exchange and progress together

As a professional Network, Délice brings together the representatives of member cities, involved in designing and implementing food-related projects and initiatives. Within Délice, they are able to share their experiences and best practices, to grow knowledge together and to create strong multilateral partnerships. Délice Network encourages member cities to initiate new ideas and projects and to consider other Délice members as a support in succeeding their accomplishments. In addition, Délice Network coordinates global advocacy lead by its member cities on the four working pillars of the organization.

1. FOOD CULTURE AS
PART OF A CITY
IDENTITY

2. FOOD SECTOR AS A
BOOST FOR ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

3. FOOD SCENE AS A TOOL
FOR GLOBAL RECOGNITION
& ATTRACTIVENESS

4. FOOD POLICIES TO ENHANCE URBAN LIVABILITY

31 cities over 4 continents

Created by the City of Lyon in 2007, Délice gathers today a great diversity of cities around the world. Each Délice member has its own specificity, approach and culture, bringing the strength of the network. Today, the Network is looking to grow and invite new cities to join the momentum.
